PinForce Mobile

Connected compliance technology

Connected PinForce Mobile software allows officers to issue infringements using a smartphone, instead of more expensive, limited or proprietary hardware. It replaces handwritten forms and old technology, and it improves efficiency, accuracy and the ability to collect evidence in the field.

Officers in the field are performing audit, inspection and investigation tasks every day. Our software helps them do it more quickly and more effectively, and it's highly configurable to make sure you can collect the types of data you need.

Our PinForce Mobile system includes:

- The smartphone and printer you'll need to get started
- PinForce infringement issuing software—this is responsible for data entry, data management and wireless printing
- Synchronisation software, so you can securely send any data you collect to our analytics platform
- Management software: collate, store, report and search for infringement records
- Security features include data encryption, audit trails and the ability to manage user authority

PinForce Mobile brings customers the benefit of twenty years of shared learning and sizeable investment in research and development. Users enjoy easy integration and regular updates to take advantage of industry developments and technological advances.
